Talent Acquisition Executive | LinkedIn Presenter/Coach

Eric is well-known as a diligent bilingual networker and people connector within the professional Latino community. With proven years of experience in staffing/recruitment fields and D&I, he has worked on both corporate and agency environments focusing on management and technology placements. Most recently, he is Director of Talent Acquisition leading corporate recruitment strategies at Warner Music Group's HQ in NYC. Prior to joining WMG, Eric worked for companies such as Univision, Verizon, PR Newswire, McGraw-Hill, Gartner as well as overseas organizations in Australia.

As an established LinkedIn power user, he often is engaged to present and train people on improving their Social Media presence and digital branding with the world's largest professional network. A passionate advocate of developing long-term relationships for personal and career growth, he has been a guest speaker/panelist at events in Columbia University, Penn State University, Red Shoe Movement, FindSpark, Proud to be Latina, Junior Achievement, SCIP, Google Innovation Lab, SHPE, to name a few organizations.

Eric has a bachelor's degree in Civil Engineering, and is fully fluent in Spanish. Prior to relocating to NYC, he lived most of his teenage and adult life in Sydney, Australia. He spent his childhood in a town 40 miles south of Buenos Aires, Argentina where his appreciation for family, friends and great food originated.

"You have not lived a perfect day unless you have done something for someone who will never be able to repay you." - Ruth Smeltzer
